

Flossbach von Storch - Global Quality - F²

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

Flossbach von Storch - Global Quality is a globally diversified equity fund with an active and focused investment approach. At least 80 per cent of the Fund's assets are invested directly in equities and equity funds. The investment focus is on first-class, highly capitalised business models that are growing at an above-average rate and reliably, are highly profitable and stable, and are led by entrepreneurial management teams. The quality assessment of the business models and the weighing of the risk-reward ratio within the framework of the company valuation are decisive for every investment decision. The fund management pursues a long-term investment horizon and understands risk as an economic dimension. As a rule, investments are made in a maximum of 50 companies. Other in-house valuation models include ESG issues, engagement, and voting. In addition, exclusion criteria defined within the framework of the Sub-Fund's investment policy are taken into account. The Sub-Fund is actively managed. The portfolio is composed by the fund manager exclusively in accordance with the criteria defined in the investment policy, reviewed regularly and adjusted if necessary. The performance of the Sub-Fund is compared using the MSCI World Net Total Return Index as a benchmark. The fund manager is not linked to the index at any time when making investment decisions and the portfolio composition. Therefore, the performance of the Sub-Fund may differ significantly from the benchmark shown. The Sub-Fund is categorized as an Article 8 product under the Disclosure Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 (SFDR).

EXPLANATORY NOTES REGARDING PERFORMANCE

Gross fund performance (BVI method) takes into account all costs incurred at fund level (for example, management fees), net fund performance also takes into account the subscription fee. Further costs may be charged individually at customer level (e.g. custody fees, commissions and other charges). Example calculation (net method): An investor wishes to buy shares with capital of €1,000. Based on a maximum subscription fee of 5%, €50 will be deducted from their investment as a one-off initial charge. In addition, custody fees may also be applied, which will further reduce the investor's return. The level of custody fees can be found in your bank's schedule of fees and services. Please refer to the cost details presented in this document to determine the maximum subscription fee for the share class of the sub-fund. The reference index is merely informative. It does not constitute any obligation from the fund manager to track the index or achieve the same performance. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.

MONTHLY COMMENTARY

The equity markets made a positive start to the New Year. The US S&P 500 equity index rose by around 2% in January (in euros, including dividends). The European stock markets performed even better (Euro STOXX 50: +8 %). The reporting season got underway towards the end of the month. Among others, German provider of business software SAP published its figures for the fourth quarter. SAP made good progress with its strategy of convincing customers of cloud solutions. Sales in the fourth quarter were 11% higher than in the previous year, while the order book for cloud expenditure planned for the next 12 months ('current cloud backlog') rose by as much as 32%. The SAP share made the largest single positive value contribution in the portfolio in January. By contrast, the largest negative value contribution came from our investment in Danaher. The manufacturer of equipment and consumer goods for the biopharmaceutical and life sciences industry continued to feel the headwind from the slow recovery of its end markets following a special economic situation during the Coronavirus pandemic. In addition, newly introduced cost-cutting measures by state purchasing companies in China put pressure on business there. The fact that the management continued to forecast subdued growth for 2025 in its outlook is likely to have been the main reason for the weak performance of the share. Chinese start-up DeepSeek also caused a stir towards the end of the month. Its language model competes with OpenAI's 'Chat GPT', among others, and can apparently utilise artificial intelligence (AI) much more cheaply than the competition from the USA. As a result, many investors reassessed their expectations regarding growth in spending on the construction of data centres and the associated infrastructure. The shares of many leading chip manufacturers, utilities and other suppliers of data centres and energy producers recorded double-digit price losses as a result. Only time will tell the exact implications of DeepSeek's surprising success. But from our point of view, this is precisely the point: many investors have probably realised how little is still known about the exact course of the further development of AI. This painfully revealed that the shares of some prominent 'AI profiteers' – whose valuations are pricing in significant advance praise for future growth – harbour not only opportunities but also risks.

OPPORTUNITIES

- + These funds aim to exploit growth opportunities on global equity markets.
- + Investing in assets denominated in a foreign currency can have a positive impact on unit values as a result of exchange rate movements.
- + Derivatives can be used to increase potential yields.

RISKS

- Equity markets and thus also unit values can experience severe fluctuations in response to market developments. The result can be a fall in the trading price. ESG criteria can restrict the selection of target investments in terms of category and number, sometimes considerably.
- Investing in assets denominated in a foreign currency can have a negative impact on unit values as a result of exchange rate movements.
- Where used, derivatives can have a greater negative impact on the fund value than would be the case if the assets were acquired directly. This can affect the fund's risk profile and volatility (tendency for the price to fluctuate).

Please read the Prospectus and particularly the RISK WARNINGS section and the specific annex of the subfund to understand the risks and benefits of this product.
