

Flossbach von Storch - Foundation Defensive - SR³

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The Flossbach von Storch - Foundation Defensive Sub-Fund offers professional asset management to foundations and other responsible investors. The defensive multi-asset strategy is designed to generate attractive returns while preserving the substance of the assets over the medium term. The fund management invests globally in equities (maximum 35 per cent), bonds, convertible bonds, currencies, gold (indirectly) and investment funds according to the principle of risk diversification. Derivatives may be used to hedge or optimise returns. The investment strategy includes in-house valuation models, ESG integration, engagement, and voting. In addition, exclusion criteria are taken into account that are based on a broad consensus of values. For example, the fund management refrains from investing in companies that are associated with the production and distribution of controversial weapons, or that generate significant revenues from military weapons, thermal coal, tobacco, alcohol and gambling. Also excluded are companies that seriously violate the principles of the UN Global Compact initiative these include human rights, labour standards, environmental protection, and anti-corruption. When selecting government bonds, no issuers are considered that are classified as "not free" by Freedom House. The Sub-Fund is actively managed and not benchmarked against an index. For detailed information on the objectives and investment policy, please refer to the most recent sales prospectus and the Key Information Document (PRIIP-KID).

EXPLANATORY NOTES REGARDING PERFORMANCE

Gross fund performance (BVI method) takes into account all costs incurred at fund level (for example, management fees), net fund performance also takes into account the subscription fee. Further costs may be charged individually at customer level (e.g. custody fees, commissions and other charges). Example calculation (net method): An investor wishes to buy shares with capital of €1,000. Based on a maximum subscription fee of 5%, €50 will be deducted from their investment as a one-off initial charge. In addition, custody fees may also be applied, which will further reduce the investor's return. The level of custody fees can be found in your bank's schedule of fees and services. Please refer to the cost details presented in this document to determine the maximum subscription fee for the share class of the sub-fund. The reference index is merely informative. It does not constitute any obligation from the fund manager to track the index or achieve the same performance. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.

MONTHLY COMMENTARY

The New Year got off to a good start, especially on the equity markets. The US S&P 500 equity index rose by 2.8% in January (in US dollars, including dividends). The European equity markets performed even better, with the Euro Stoxx 600 and DAX indices recording gains of 6.4% and 9.2%, respectively. The global MSCI World benchmark index rose by 3.1% (in euros). The reporting season kicked off towards the end of the month, but it was Chinese start-up DeepSeek that caused a stir with its 'R1' AI model. The open-source model is designed to make artificial intelligence (AI) much cheaper and more efficient to use than its US counterparts and made it to the top of the Apple download charts in the USA within a few days. This had a negative impact on the share prices of some companies related to artificial intelligence, in some cases in the double-digit percentage range. Central bank meetings, conversely, were less spectacular. While the US Federal Reserve held key US interest rates constant at 4.25% to 4.50% for the time being, the European Central Bank lowered its deposit rate by 25 basis points to 2.75% as expected. The bond markets barely reacted, with the Bloomberg Global - Aggregate Total Return Index hedged EUR up slightly by 0.3% on the month. The development of the gold price was once again remarkable. After gaining more than 27% last year, the precious metal rose by 6.6% in January (calculated in US dollars). Shortly before the end of the month, the price of gold reached a new all-time high of USD 2,798 per troy ounce. In this environment, the share price recorded strong growth of 2.0%. Almost all asset classes contributed to the performance, with the strongest contribution coming from the equities asset class. Only losses from currency hedging transactions had a slightly negative impact on performance. We added Symrise to our equity portfolio. In addition to MSCI, we also completely divested SAP. We also slightly increased our holdings in Atlas Copco, Applied Materials and ASML, among others. By contrast, we reduced our holdings in Amazon, Starbucks and the payment service providers Mastercard and Visa, among others. At the end of the month, the equity allocation was almost unchanged at 25.5%. In the bond allocation, we participated in new issues from E.ON, Evonik and Traton. At the end of the month, the bond quota was 57.9%, the duration and current yield were 5.1% and 3.5%, respectively. The weighted average rating of the bond portfolio remains unchanged at AA.

GENERAL SUSTAINABILITY APPROACH AT FLOSSBACH VON STORCH

Flossbach von Storch acts according to a comprehensive understanding of sustainability and integrates ESG (Environment, Social and Governance) factors firmly into its proprietary investment process. The in-house research department thoroughly examines the quality of each new investment idea on the basis of a fundamental company analysis. Only if a company generates returns in the long term and there are no serious ESG conflicts does an investment idea become a potential investment. In this context, particular importance is attached to long-term corporate governance (G) with integrity. It allows conclusions to be drawn about the observance of all ESG factors.

You can find more information on the topic of sustainability at:

OPPORTUNITIES

- + Flexible investment policy without benchmarking.
- + Risk is broadly diversified by investing in a range of asset classes (e.g. equities, bonds, convertible bonds, and precious metals [indirect]). Market potential can be exploited by investing across a wide range.
- + Investing in assets denominated in a foreign currency can have a positive impact on unit values as a result of exchange-rate movements.
- + Derivatives can be used to increase potential yields.
- + Precious metals [indirect] (e.g. in the form of gold) can be used to increase potential yields.

RISKS

- Market risks: the securities in which the Management Company invests the sub-fund assets present opportunities for gain but also the possibility of risk. The ESG criteria restrict the selection of target investments in terms of category and number, sometimes considerably. If a sub-fund invests directly or indirectly in securities and other assets, it is subject to many general trends and tendencies on the markets, which are sometimes attributable to irrational factors, particularly on the securities markets. Losses can occur when the market value of the assets decreases against the cost price. If a unit holder disposes of units in a sub-fund at a time when the quoted price of the sub-fund assets is less than at the time of investment, then the unit holder will not recover the full value of the investment. While each sub-fund constantly strives to achieve growth, growth cannot be guaranteed. The risk exposure of the investor is, however, limited to the sum invested. There is no obligation to make additional capital contributions beyond investors' investments.
- Currency risks: if a sub-fund holds assets which are denominated in foreign currencies, it shall be subject to currency risk. In the event of a devaluation of the foreign currency against the reference currency of the sub-fund, the value of the assets held in foreign currencies shall fall.
- Credit risks: the fund may invest part of its assets in bonds. The issuers of these bonds could become insolvent, causing the bonds to lose some or all of their value.
- Interest-change risks: investing in securities at a fixed rate of interest is connected with the possibility that the current interest rate at the time of issuance of a security could change. If the current interest rate increases as against the interest at the time of issue, fixed-rate securities will generally decrease in value. Conversely, if the current interest rate falls, fixed-rate securities will increase.
- Risks relating to the use of derivatives: the fund may enter into derivative transactions for the purposes listed in the key information document (PRIIP-KID) and the sales prospectus. This means increased opportunities, but also increased risk of losses. The use of derivatives to hedge against losses may also reduce the profit opportunities of the fund.
- Risks of precious metals and commodities: precious metals and commodities may be subject to greater price fluctuations. Trading prices may also fall.

INVESTOR PROFILE

CONSERVATIVE:

The fund is appropriate for conservative investors. Due to the composition of the net sub-fund assets, there is a moderate degree of risk but also a moderate degree of profit potential. The risks may consist in particular of currency risk, credit risk and price risk, as well as market interest rate risks.

INVESTMENT HORIZON:

Medium-term: 3 to 5 years

RISK INDICATOR

The risk indicator assumes you keep the product for 3 years. The actual risk can vary significantly if you cash in at an early stage and you may get back less. The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you. We have classified this product as 3 out of 7, which is a medium-low risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a medium-low level, and poor market conditions are unlikely to impact our capacity to pay you.
