INVESTMENT STRATEGY

Flossbach von Storch - Global Quality is a global equity fund with an active, focussed investment approach. The focus is on long-term holdings in companies (real value concept), not short-term speculation. We therefore focus on the quality of the company, which is determined by the strength and predictability of the expected earnings performance. We value a strong and sustainable competitive position, a healthy balance sheet, attractive target markets and management with integrity and competence. High-quality companies tend to have above-average returns on invested capital and strong resilience to adverse developments. All investment decisions are based on a sound assessment of quality and valuation. We understand risk as an economic dimension, i.e. the danger of a permanent loss of capital as opposed to short-term fluctuations. Other in-house valuation models include ESG issues, engagement, and voting. In addition, exclusion criteria defined within the framework of the Sub-Fund's investment policy are taken into account.

The Sub-Fund is actively managed. The portfolio is composed by the fund manager exclusively in accordance with the criteria defined in the investment policy, reviewed regularly and adjusted if necessary. The performance of the Sub-Fund is compared using the MSCI World Net Total Return Index as a benchmark. The fund manager is not linked to the index at any time when making investment decisions and the portfolio composition. Therefore, the performance of the Sub-Fund may differ significantly from the benchmark shown. The Sub-Fund is categorized as an Article 8 product under the Disclosure Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 (SFDR). For detailed information on the objectives and investment policy, please refer to the most recent sales prospectus and the Key Information Document (PRIIP-KID).

EXPLANATORY NOTES REGARDING PERFORMANCE

Gross fund performance (BVI method) takes into account all costs incurred at fund level (for example, management fees), net fund performance also takes into account the subscription fee. Further costs may be charged individually at customer level (e.g. custody fees, commissions and other charges). Example calculation (net method): An investor wishes to buy shares with capital of €1,000. Based on a maximum subscription fee of 5 %, € 50 will be deducted from their investment as a one-off initial charge. In addition, custody fees may also be applied, which will further reduce the investor's return. The level of custody fees can be found in your bank's schedule of fees and services. Please refer to the cost details presented in this document to determine the maximum subscription fee for the share class of the sub-fund. The reference index is merely informative. It does not constitute any obligation from the fund manager to track the index or achieve the same performance. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.

MONTHLY COMMENTARY

July brought a certain de-escalation in the trade war. First, a trade deal with Japan was announced; then, at the end of the month, the EU and the USA agreed on a deal that provides for a 15% tariff on imports into the USA. The exact practical implementation and ancillary conditions, such as the details of the investment commitments, remained largely unclear. Overall, the USA's trade policy will result in tariffs that are many times higher than in previous decades. In terms of monetary policy, everything remained unchanged – the European and US central banks ruled out further interest-rate cuts in July, citing the uncertainties surrounding inflation and economic development caused by tariffs. Nevertheless, the mood on the equity markets was positive, helped by the corporate reporting season, even if there were certainly some ups and downs. Driven by the large US technology companies, the MSCI World global equity index rose by 3.9% (calculated in euros, including dividends). Index heavyweight Microsoft reported for the first time how much revenue is generated by its Azure cloud division. Its growth rate of 39% in the past quarter is an indication that the high investments in artificial intelligence could pay off. Microsoft shares rose after the figures were published – to a market capitalisation of more than USD four trillion – and made the largest positive contribution to the portfolio in July. Further positive value contributions came from our investments in British consumer goods manufacturer Reckitt Benckiser and US life sciences equipment supplier Thermo Fisher. Both companies reported quarterly figures that were robust in a challenging environment and reaffirmed their medium- to long-term growth targets. The market responded with significant price gains. Negative value contributions came from our investments in Danish pharmaceuticals group Novo Nordisk, German fragrance and flavourings manufacturer Symrise and US consulting firm Accenture. Symrise and Accenture reported strong margin growth in their quarterly results, but both reported headwinds to growth that are likely to persist for the rest of the year. Novo Nordisk, conversely, had to issue a profit warning and significantly reduce its annual outlook. Competition is eroding the company's market share in obesity drugs. In particular, despite considerable legal efforts, it has not yet been possible to push back suppliers of generic products manufactured in a legal grey area.

OPPORTUNITIES

- + These funds aim to exploit growth opportunities on global equity markets.
- + Investing in assets denominated in a foreign currency can have a positive impact on unit values as a result of exchange rate movements.
- + Derivatives can be used to increase potential yields.

RISKS

- Equity markets and thus also unit values can experience severe fluctuations in response to market developments. The result can be a fall in the trading price. ESG criteria can restrict the selection of target investments in terms of category and number, sometimes considerably.
- Investing in assets denominated in a foreign currency can have a negative impact on unit values as a result of exchange rate movements.
- Where used, derivatives can have a greater negative impact on the fund value than would be the case if the assets were acquired directly. This can affect the fund's risk profile and volatility (tendency for the price to fluctuate).

Please read the Prospectus and particularly the RISK WARNINGS section and the specific annex of the subfund to understand the risks and benefits of this product.
