EXPLANATORY NOTES REGARDING PERFORMANCE

Gross fund performance (BVI method) takes into account all costs incurred at fund level (for example, management fees), net fund performance also takes into account the subscription fee. Further costs may be charged individually at customer level (e.g. custody fees, commissions and other charges). Example calculation (net method): An investor wishes to buy shares with capital of €1,000. Based on a maximum subscription fee of 5 %, € 50 will be deducted from their investment as a one-off initial charge. In addition, custody fees may also be applied, which will further reduce the investor's return. The level of custody fees can be found in your bank's schedule of fees and services. Please refer to the cost details presented in this document to determine the maximum subscription fee for the share class of the sub-fund. The reference index is merely informative. It does not constitute any obligation from the fund manager to track the index or achieve the same performance. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.

MONTHLY COMMENTARY

In April, US President Donald Trump once again caused enormous volatility on the global bond markets with the announcement of his comprehensive tariff strategy as part of his 'Liberation Day'. The accompanying global growth concerns and initial risk-off sentiment initially triggered a flight to safehaven assets, with German Bunds and US Treasuries with short and medium maturities benefiting in particular. However, US bonds subsequently experienced a noticeable counter-movement. Concerns about tariff-induced inflationary pressures in the USA and a possible decline in demand for US Treasuries from Chinese investors (in the wake of an escalating trade war) weighed on US bonds, particularly those with longer maturities. This development was further exacerbated by Trump's verbal pressure on US Federal Reserve Chair Jerome Powell to lower interest rates, accompanied by capital flight reflexes in the form of a weaker US dollar against the euro and other currency pairs. These sometimes violent market reactions prompted the US government to take countermeasures for the time being, leading to a recovery. Corporate bond risk premiums were also unable to escape the market turbulence and, after a temporary significant widening of spreads, ended the month at noticeably higher levels overall. In the portfolio, we took advantage of the sharp price rises in German Bunds to take profits and tactically reduced the duration in the portfolio to around 1.65 years. While we expect the ECB to cut interest rates further in view of the outlook for the eurozone, market expectations appear overheated in the short term. We have selectively used the rise in risk premiums (spreads) to buy additional corporate bonds.

FUND MANAGEMENT

Marcel Bross Fund manager at Flossbach von Storch since 2021.

Team Fixed Income

Deputy and operational collaboration is conducted through our Fixed Income Team.

Flossbach von Storch -Bond Defensive - I

OPPORTUNITIES

- + Participate in global bond market growth.
- + Income can be generated from regular interest payments.
- + Active interest rate, currency and risk management (e.g. from the use of derivatives).

RISKS

- The securities in which the Management Company invests the sub-fund assets present opportunities for gain but also the possibility of risk. ESG criteria can restrict the selection of target investments in terms of category and number, sometimes considerably. If a sub-fund invests directly or indirectly in securities and other assets, it is subject to many general trends and tendencies, which are sometimes attributable to irrational factors on the markets particularly on the securities markets. Losses can occur when the market value of the assets decreases as against the cost price. If a unitholder sells units of the sub-fund at a time at which the value of assets in the sub-fund has decreased compared with the time of the unit purchase, he will not receive the full amount he has invested in the sub-fund. Despite the fact that each sub-fund aspires constant growth, this cannot be guaranteed.
- Country, credit and issuer liquidity risk. Also potential exchange rate risks. If securities are illiquid (i.e. thinly traded), there is a risk that it may either not be possible to sell the assets at all or only by accepting a significant discount on the sale price.
- Investing in bonds may entail price risks, especially in case of rising interest rates on the capital markets.
- Where used, derivatives can have a greater negative impact on the fund value than would be the case if the assets were acquired directly. This can affect the fund's risk profile and volatility (tendency for the price to fluctuate).

Please read the Prospectus and particularly the RISK WARNINGS section and the specific annex of the subfund to understand the risks and benefits of this product.

The risk indicator assumes you keep the product for 3 years. The actual risk can vary significantly if you cash in at an early stage and you may get back less. The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you. We have classified this product as 2 out of 7, which is a low risk class.
